REPORT THE INCIDENT TO THE STUDENTS OF

at truman.edu/students-of-concern.

The University Counseling Services (660-785-4014) is available for ongoing consultations
(as needed) to help address the impact of the situation.

IMMINENT DANGER IS PRESENT

EXAMPLES

- Student reports a history of selfinjurious behavior (e.g., cutting or burning) and now states a desire to engage in this behavior again.
- Student makes statements that are suggestive of suicidal/ homicidal thinking that are not overtly indicative of imminent danger (e.g., I don't know if I can keep going).
- Student appears emotionally distraught and does not respond to your attempts to calm him/her.
- Student experiences a sudden stressful event (e.g., death, breakup, divorce) and seems emotionally unstable/inconsolable, or the student's response appears unusual (e.g., uncontrollable crying over a failed exam, no apparent response to the death of immediate family member).
- Student's work, assignments and/ or communications contain material that raises concerns about suicide, homicide and/or violence.

CALL UNIVERSITY

and ask to consult with a counselor (660-785-4014). Do not email. This situation requires an immediate response. If the situation occurs after normal business hours call 988.

PROVIDE ALL THE

you have about the student and situation to the counselor; if you are a faculty member you may have had the opportunity to observe the student over time, and with guidance, you can provide valuable information about the student's mental health.

INFORM YOUR

SUPERVISOR of the situation. Document relevant details about the situation (who, what, when, where) and any background information you have about the student's difficulties. Keep a copy of this documentation.

SUBMIT THE INCIDENT TO THE STUDENTS OF CONCERN TEAM

at truman.edu/students-of-concern/ or contact any team member.

NO, IMMINENT DANGER IS CLEARLY NOT PRESENT

EXAMPLES

- You observe a student crying after getting off the phone during a class break, she reports that she is sad about the end of a romantic relationship; she denies suicidal/homicidal thoughts and shows no warning signs.
- A student is struggling in your class due to academic skill deficits and test anxiety; he denies suicidal/homicidal thoughts and shows no warning signs.

As much as you and the student are comfortable, listen and provide support; but do not become the student's counselor/therapist.

DISCUSS COUNSELING SERVICES AND/OR OTHER

that might be helpful and address any concerns the student might have about these resources. For academic issues, consider contacting the Center for Academic Excellence (785–4409) or the student's academic advisor.

SHOULD YOU DECIDE TO REFER TO UNIVERSITY COUNSELING SERVICES:

- Know that University Counseling Services would like to hear your concerns about the student and your thoughts about the urgency of the situation
- Consider calling with the student or accompanying the student to University Counseling Services to initiate counseling services.
- Continue to follow up with the student as appropriate; contact University Counseling Services if you observe a significant change in student's behavior.
