Message from the Dean

Another school year has come and gone, and once again it was busy and filled with events. I invite you to read through Pedigree, the School of Business news magazine. At the beginning of the year, we said hello to some new faces, both students and faculty. We had to say good-bye to our graduating students and one long-term faculty member. Between the hellos and the good-byes, our students, faculty and alumni were engaged in activities that promoted learning, scholarship, and professional success. It's a pleasure to reflect upon their achievements.

I encourage you to become a follower of the School's Facebook and Twitter feeds, and please let us know how the School of Business can do a better job of staying connected.

Regards,

Deb Kerby, Dean

TRUMAN STATE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL of BUSINESS

Students Transition to Major Classes

The School of Business hosted the 9th annual Bridge Ceremony on Sept. 14, 2015. The purpose of this ceremony is to mark the students' transition to upper-level accounting and business administration major courses. Ricardo (Ricky) Vigil ('04), Vice President and Chief Financial Officer at Maryville Technologies gave the keynote talk. Vigil focused on the role of a leader in a well-functioning group whether at work, in the community, or in your home. He stressed that leaders must take the time to learn the strengths and personalities of group members to achieve the best possible outcomes.

Scott McKillip, senior Business Administration-Finance major, reinforced Vigil's remarks about working in teams and challenged students to take advantage of the many learning and professional development opportunities offered at Truman. McKillip led the students in reciting the School's Code of Conduct.

Executive Vice President and Provost Dr. Sue Thomas and Dean Deb Kerby congratulated each student individually as their names were announced by Dr. Kathy Otero, Assistant Professor of Accounting. The School presented each student with a padfolio embossed with the School of Business logo.

Hammann Served as Fall 2015 Bentele/Mallinckrodt Executive-in-Residence

The School of Business welcomed Gregg Hammann, Chief Operating Officer of Sedgwick, a claims management provider, at the Bentele/Mallinckrodt Executive-in-Residence. On October 19 and 20, Hammann spoke to the Brand Management, Introduction to Business, International Marketing, and Accounting Capstone classes. He also formally addressed students in a School-wide presentation. Hammann used examples from his executive leadership experiences at Coca-Cola, Levi Strauss, Famous Footwear, Rayovac, and Nautilus as examples during his School-wide talk entitled, “Failures that Created Growth.” A highlight of the talk was Hammann’s “Top 10 to Success” principles. Students had the opportunity to speak informally with Hammann during a reception and luncheon.

As the COO of Sedgwick, Hammann is helping the company to transform health care in the United States to an Integrated Consumer First model. In this role Hammann has responsibility for Finance, Marketing, Information Technology, Legal, Real Estate, Strategy, Human Resources, Mergers and Acquisitions and Industry Relations. He has also served as the Chief Strategy Officer and Chief Financial Officer of the company.

From 2007 through 2014, Hammann owned his own consulting firm, Action-Advisors, helping companies develop strategic planning capabilities. From 2003-2007 Hammann was President and CEO of publicly traded Nautilus Inc., later becoming Chairman, where he repositioned the company to compete in multiple channels of commerce.

Previously, he held leadership positions at Levis Strauss & Company, including Global Chief Customer Officer and President of Canada and Latin America. At The Coca-Cola Company Hammann was Vice President of Global Fountain CMG, Director of Strategic Issues, and the first Officer hired from outside the company in its history. He has also held management positions at Famous Footwear, The Rayovac Corporation, and Procter & Gamble.

He graduated from the University of Iowa in Business where he participated in football and track receiving the Lester Bookey award for the Outstanding Student Athlete his senior year. He has an MBA from the University of Wisconsin and has a certification from UCLA's Anderson School of Business in Sarbanes Oxley accounting as a Financial Audit expert.

Hammann is married with three children. He volunteers his time coaching youth sports and helping local and global charities.

Barner Spring 2016 Executive-in-Residence

Mark Barner ('81) served as the Spring 2016 Bentele/Mallinckrodt Executive in Residence. During his campus-wide presentation he spoke on the topic of "There Are No Limits." Mr. Barner highlighted how Truman helped him to develop from a small-town boy to successful IT executive.

He encouraged students to take advantage of learning opportunities, stay true to values, and live a balanced life. Barner also talked with students in Management Information Systems, Accounting Information Systems, and Business Database Management classes about such topics as cybersecurity and big data. He met informally with students during breakfast.

Barner serves in a dual role as Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer (CIO) for Ascension and as the Chief Executive Officer of Ascension Information Services (AIS), a subsidiary of Ascension, providing information technology services across Ascension and its other subsidiary organizations. Barner's duties include management of IT operations, strategy, project execution and service delivery. Barner brings extensive executive experience in technology services, outsourcing and large-scale contract administration related to customer experience, IT strategy and relationship management. Since joining Ascension, he has led a matrixed organization of more than 2,700 IT professionals in 23 states and the District of Columbia. Projects have included infrastructure efforts that range from wireless initiatives, telepresence, mobility applications, business continuity, end-user support, security and data protection. He has also led multi-year projects to advance electronic health record (EHR) strategies, including online nursing and clinical documentation, order sets and computerized physician order entry.

Prior to being named CIO for Ascension Health in 2008, Barner served as CIO for the Seton Healthcare Family, headquartered in Austin, Texas, and Regional CIO for Ascension Information Services. Earlier, Barner was employed by EDS, where he was responsible for state and local government contracts. He has also served as Regional Vice President for an Internet consulting company, which had clients in the retail, airline, insurance and healthcare industries and as an executive with Dell in the healthcare area.

Barner, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Truman State University ('81), is a graduate of the Ascension Executive Formation program and is active in the College of Healthcare Information Management Executives (CHIME) and Healthcare Information and Management Systems Society (HIMSS). In October 2014, Barner was selected as one of Computerworld's Premier 100 IT Leaders for 2015. Barner also appeared, for the third year in a row, on Becker's Hospital Review's list of "100 Hospital and Health System CIOs to Know" in February 2015.

Barner and his family (including his Cairn Terrier, Murphy) live in the Lafayette Square neighborhood in St. Louis, Mo.

Mark Barner, Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer, Ascension

The Bentele/Mallinckrodt Executive-in-Residence Program is endowed by IMCERA (Mallinckrodt) to honor former president and CEO, Raymond F. Bentele.

Alumni!

John Laurent Named Alumnus of the Year

The School of Business recognized John Laurent ('89) as its Alumnus of the Year. He exemplifies all of the qualities of an outstanding alumnus. His personal achievements and community service reflect well upon himself and the School. Laurent has demonstrated commitment to the University through volunteer service, and has contributed financially to the University Foundation.

John Laurent is Vice President of IT for Enterprise Holdings, Inc. in Clayton, MO. He has responsibility for Enterprise's IT in Europe along with global responsibility for Enterprise's financial systems, HR systems, payroll, portfolio management, and acquisitions.

Laurent grew up in O'Fallon, Missouri and attended Fort Zumwalt High School. He is a 1989 graduate of Truman where he majored in Business Administration with concentrations in Finance and Management. After graduating from Truman, Laurent received a Master of Arts degree at the University of Melbourne in Australia, where he was a Rotary International Scholar.

After college, Laurent joined Andersen Consulting (now Accenture) where he worked for four years. In 1995, he started Laurent Consulting where he specialized in large IT integration efforts implementing PeopleSoft Financials and HR. His clients included Boeing, RCA Records, Bell South, and Sprint. Laurent sold his consulting business to Infinity Consulting in 1999 when he joined Enterprise Rent-A-Car. In 2005, he moved his family to London, England, to Enterprise's European Headquarters where he oversaw European IT for four years. In 2009, Laurent returned to St. Louis and added global franchisee responsibility. Most recently, he added responsibility for overseeing Enterprise's growing M&A (mergers & acquisitions) activity.

Laurent lives in St. Paul, Missouri—not far from his boyhood home in O'Fallon—with his wife, Stacey, and their three children, Caleb, Aaron, and Melaina. He is involved in numerous civic and charitable efforts including St. Charles Partners for Progress, Compassion International, Living Water International, Perlynko Ukraine Orphanage, Career Explorations Alliance, and the Prince of Wales Seeing is Believing Trust.

Young Alumnus Paul McCain Guides a Growing Business

The School of Business named Paul McCain ('12) its 2016 Young Alumnus of the year. Since graduating from Truman, his business has grown rapidly. McCain is the founder and General Manager of Diode Dynamics, a manufacturer of LED lighting products for the automotive industry. Founded in 2006, the company's focus on developing innovative products, with superior quality and excellent service, has allowed for continued growth over the past ten years. McCain has hired Truman students as interns and full-time employees.

McCain was raised in St. Louis and attended Parkway South High School. When he turned 16, he purchased his first car, a Hyundai Tiburon. Due to the lack of options available, he began producing LED lighting kits for himself and other Tiburon owners. That led to the founding of Diode Dynamics in 2006. McCain continued to grow the company while at Truman. He was also an active member of Delta Sigma Pi serving as Chapter President and was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. McCain graduated in 2012 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration (Finance) and Economics.

After moving back to St. Louis, McCain began his first fulltime effort toward managing and expanding the operations of Diode Dynamics. Over the past four years, the company has grown significantly, currently employing more than 40 individuals, while shifting its focus to direct manufacturing. Recently Diode Dynamics announced that they will be adding a new 15,000 square foot engineering facility to meet the growing demand for more unique, innovative products in the automotive market. The company plans to add 50 engineers at the location over the next three years to develop and test solid-state automotive lighting products. McCain is married to Kirsten (Vollmer) McCain ('13), and they reside in St. Charles, Missouri.

Over the past four years, the company has grown significantly, ...

Students Take FLITE

The Boeing FLITE (Future Leaders in Thought & Experience) is an inclusive Business internship opportunity offered to rising sophomores at Saint Louis University, Truman State University, University of Missouri – St. Louis, and Howard University who are actively pursuing a degree in business or a related field. This 10-week program takes place from mid-May to early August. During this time, students have the opportunity to gain real-world work experience with the world's leading aerospace company. The students work Monday through Thursday and participate in professional development activities on Friday. Excel training, interview skills, simulations, and tours are all part of the professional development days. Students live on the University of Missouri – St. Louis campus during the internship period. Truman students selected for the 2016 Boeing FLITE program were Ariel Logan (Troy, MO), Jesus (Jessie) Dias (Higbee, MO), and Viviana Rodriguez (Marshfield, MO).

The Boeing Blitz Comes to Truman

Employees of the Boeing Company descended on the Truman campus on Sept. 16, 2015, as part of the Boeing Blitz to share information about Boeing internships, jobs, products, and learning opportunities. Truman alumni who work at Boeing gave four presentations throughout the day and hosted a networking event for students in the afternoon. Among the alumni presenters was Chuck Woods, VP and CFO of Boeing Global Support and Services. Truman State University remains among Boeing's finance focal universities for hiring entry-level employees.

Truman Alumnus Connects Truman with Chicago

Truman History alumnus John Thompson ('92) hosted Truman Connect Chicago student field trips to Chicago during the 2015 spring and fall semesters. The trips were part of the School of Business alternative midterm break program. Last fall approximately a dozen accounting, business administration, and liberal arts students traveled to Chicago over midterm break accompanied by faculty member Chuck Boughton. Thompson organized a series of panel discussions held at Aon Hewitt's offices in downtown Chicago. Alumni and other professionals from the accounting, financial services, human resource, and nonprofit sectors discussed career options and professional development with the participants. Firms represented included Aon Hewitt, Morningstar, Baker Tilley, Deutsche Asset & Wealth Management, Oppenheimer, U.S. Bank, New York Life, Northern Trust, and the YMCA. The students attended the Comedy Club, ate Chicago-style pizza, and networked with alumni and business professionals during a reception held at the Mid-America Club atop the Aon Center. Thompson is Partner and Head of Investment Solutions with Aon Hewitt Investment Consulting.

International Students Share Experiences

International students comprise nearly 20 percent of the student body in the School of Business.

International Education Week was celebrated nationwide during the week of November 16 – 20, 2015. International Education Week is an opportunity to celebrate the benefits of international education and exchange worldwide. The week is a joint initiative of the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Department of Education as part of their efforts to promote programs that prepare Americans for a global environment and attract future leaders from abroad to study, learn, and exchange experiences in the United States.

Some may be surprised to learn that international students comprise nearly 20 percent of the student body in the School of Business. The students come to the School from 27 different countries. The international students contribute to the cultural diversity, varied experiences, and multiple perspectives of the Truman campus. The presence and engagement of international students significantly enhance the living and learning environment at Truman.

Six students agreed to share just a bit about their experiences and perspectives as international students at Truman. They discussed food, entertainment, classroom etiquette, study habits, attire, travel adventures to Kirksville, and more during the question-and-answer panel discussion. The panel discussants and their home countries were: Philipp Wirth (Germany), Margherita Parlange (Italy), Tram Nguyen (Vietnam), Di Han (China), Daniel Duarte (Colombia), and Eyo Ita (Gambia).

Professor from Taiwan Visits Truman

Dr. Day-Yang Liu, a Professor of Finance in the Graduate Institute of Finance at the National Taiwan University of Science and Technology visited the Truman campus on Wednesday, September 02, 2015. He met with Dr. Jason Lin, Chair and Professor of Business Administration and Dean Deb Kerby. During Dr. Liu's visit, they discussed shared teaching, research, and program interests. Dr. Liu strongly encouraged student and faculty travel to Asia. The National Taiwan University of Science and Technology is accredited by AACSB and is among the top research universities in Taiwan.

Dr. Jason Lin, Chair and Professor of Business Administration and Dean Deb Kerby with Dr. Day-Yang Liu

Qinghai Nationalities University and Truman Sign MOU

Last fall Truman and the School of Business hosted Xiaohong Zheng, Dean of the College of Business Administration, and Ying Yuan, an instructor of English in the College of Business from Qinghai Nationalities University (QUN). Qinghai Nationalities University is located in Western China and enrolls more than 11,000 students from 28 ethnic groups.

President Troy Paino signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the two universities. Dean Zheng returned the MOU to QUN for the signature of its president. As a result of the MOU, the Truman School of Business will enter discussions to outline an articulation agreement for the creation of a 2 + 2 degree completion program with the QUN College of Business Administration. A 2 + 2 agreement would permit QUN students to complete the first two years of their study at QUN and complete their degree at Truman. QUN would also confer their degree upon the students. The two schools will also explore faculty exchanges, research collaboration, and potential short-term summer programs for QUN graduate students.

President Troy Paino and Dean Xiaohong Zeng display the MOUs.

Bulldog B.I.T.E. Finalists Pitch at T-REX

Six Truman students pitched their entrepreneurial ideas before a panel of judges during the finals of the Bulldog B.I.T.E. Pitch Competition held at the T-REX co-working space and technology incubator in downtown St. Louis on March 31, 2016. Each finalist had two minutes to pitch their idea followed by three minutes of questions from the judges. The finalists learned the importance of being well-prepared, clear communicators and to respond well under pressure.

First, Second, and Third place winners received $3,000, $2,000, and $1,000, respectively. The winners of the Bulldog B.I.T.E. Pitch Competition were:

First Place: William Fries, Computer Science and Business Administration, with a small USB security device for protecting digital data, such as emails, passwords or encryption keys. The product keeps data offline and securely encrypted, while still allowing for easy access with a short pin.

Second Place: Anthony Hill, Business Administration, with SpiroRip. The product is a plastic device that slips onto a spiral notebook ensuring a perfect, clean tear every time.

Third Place: Stephen Cutler, Business Administration, with Lily Luggage. The product is a rolling motorized suitcase that will follow you, hands-free, by utilizing Bluetooth technology found in all smartphones.

Other finalists were Jordan Duecker, Business Administration; Shane Legatzke and Michael Poindexter, Accounting/Business Administration and Business Administration, respectively; and Kevin Wu, Computer Science and Business Administration.

Judges for the pitch presentations were:

Stacey George ('00), Senior Counsel at Wells Fargo

Amanda Gioia ('93), Vice President, Communications at MasterCard

John Haney ('01), CEO of Apps from Outer Space and Tech Lead at Lextech Mobile

Chris LeBeau ('05), Vice President of Entrepreneur Services at Eagle Bank and Trust Co.

Kevin Tibbs ('95), Co-founder of BETTER LIFE, a manufacturer of green household cleaning products Truman alumni Doug ('94) and Diane ('95)

Villhard along with Villhard Growth Partners sponsored the Bulldog B.I.T.E. Pitch Competition during the 2016 spring semester.

In breakout sessions, students discussed issues of diversity in Silicon Valley organizations and at Truman.

School of Business Welcomed New Students

New first-year, transfer, international, and exchange students participated in Majors Day activities on August 18, 2015. The peer mentors and faculty introduced themselves to the students, and Dean Kerby conducted some polling of the students to get a quick profile of the group. Anushri Thakkar, a senior double major in Business Administration-Marketing and Public Communication, shared her perspectives about getting the most out of college using a baseball theme—St. Louis Cardinals (no offense to the Royals fans among you). In addition, the students viewed a video entitled A Peacock in the Land of Penguins that addressed issues of diversity and the impact that the lack of diversity has on decision making. In breakout sessions, students discussed issues of diversity in Silicon Valley organizations and at Truman.

Lecture Series Utilizes Video Conferencing

During the spring semester, the Bulldog Student Investment Fund launched a “Third Tuesday Lecture Series.” The lectures focused on topics of interest for those planning to enter the financial services industry. The series used a video conference format to enable professionals to participate without traveling hundreds of miles to Kirksville. The series served as an impetus to enhance video conferencing capabilities during the summer break. Speakers for the inaugural series were Laura Beth Cleveland (EY), Truman Patterson (Evercore), Doug Berry (Northwestern Mutual), and Jonathan Holden (LeBaronBrown Industries).

Students Place at Ethics Case Competition

Winter Wang, Sarah Larara, Michael Varner, and Isaac Speed represented the Truman Enactus Team at an annual ethics competition hosted by Kansas State University March 24-26. Kansas State invites six universities to participate in this case-based competition. Truman is the only school to have been invited all seven years of the competition. University of Colorado finished in first place, followed by the team from University of Oklahoma with Truman's team in third place. Kansas State, Oklahoma State, and Fort Hayes State, also participated.

Beta Gamma Sigma Inducts Top Students

On April 23, 2016, Beta Gamma Sigma inducted new members. Beta Gamma Sigma is the international honor society serving business programs accredited by AACSB International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. Beta Gamma Sigma membership is the highest recognition that an AACSB-accredited University can bestow upon a business student. Membership is extended to only the very top students in the junior, senior, and graduate class cohorts. Young Alumnus of the Year, Paul McCain, spoke during the ceremony.

Accounting Faculty Project Selected for Award

Alan Davis, Associate Professor of Accounting, and Cathy Poyner, Instructor of Accounting, had their manuscript entitled, A Capstone Course in Accounting - Research, Communication, and Critical Thinking, selected as the first place winner of the 2015 MidAmerican Business Deans Association Innovation in Business Education Award. Davis and Poyner presented their work during the Association’s annual meeting in Chicago on Oct. 12, 2015 at which time they received a $1,000 cash award.

Kaden Receives Excellence in Teaching Award

Dr. Stacey Kaden, Assistant Professor of Accounting, was presented with the Excellence in Teaching Award at the Recognition Banquet on April 23, 2016. She received a $1,000 grant and had her name inscribed on a plaque outside the School of Business Office. Following the dinner, Dean Kerby presented a plaque to Dr.

Kaden in an Intermediate Accounting I class.

Dr. Kaden received multiple student nominations for the award. A nomination from a trio of students stated that Dr. Kaden “is very approachable and genuinely interested in her students. She takes the time to make sure that her students understand the material and provides explanations for all questions she is asked. Her class is challenging, but the amount of effort she puts into teaching motivates her students to want to put effort into the course.”

Dr. Kaden teaches Introduction to Financial Accounting, Intermediate Financial Accounting I, and Federal Taxation. She advises approximately 30 students and assists with VITA. Prior to becoming a Truman accounting professor, Dr. Kaden was a tax accountant with BKD.

Dr. Paul Fellows Retires

Dr. Paul Fellows, Associate Professor of Business Administration, retired at the end of May 2016.

Dr. Fellows joined the School of Business faculty in 1991. He taught several different finance courses, but alumni cite Corporate Finance as one of the courses that best prepared them for their careers. Dr. Fellows will continue to teach Corporate during the 2016-2017 school year.

Three Assistant Professors Join the School of Business

Dr. Jeff Lingwall (left), Assistant Professor of Business Administration, joined the faculty at Truman in 2015. He graduated from the Honors Program at Brigham Young University, with bachelors and masters degrees in Statistics and minors in mathematics and management. He earned additional masters degrees in statistics and economics from Carnegie Mellon University, where he also received his PhD in Economics and Public Policy. Lingwall also earned a JD from the Yale Law School and clerked on the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals. Prior to joining Truman, Dr. Lingwall practiced class action and mass product liability defense law in Kansas City. He has a variety of research interests, including jurisdictional issues in mass litigation, the history of corporate social responsibility, consumer financial protection, and the effect of education policy. Outside of school, Dr. Lingwall is an avid boardgamer, tries to keep up with his five children, and avoids pearls at all costs.

Dr. Isaac Ison (middle), Assistant Professor of Accounting, joined the Accounting faculty in August 2015. Dr. Ison earned a BS in Business Administration from Dixie State University and then worked as an assistant controller for a regional development company in Southern Nevada. Later, he earned a master's degree from Southern Utah University and a PhD in Business Administration from Jackson State University. Dr. Ison's primary goal is to share his passion for learning through becoming a better accounting teacher. His research interests revolve around corporate merger and acquisition accounting, specifically, purchase price allocation, goodwill impairment and accounting for intangibles. Ison's hobbies include researching business ideas, tinkering with mechanical projects, waterskiing and hiking. He always enjoys spending time with his wife and three boys.

Dr. Michael Barnes (right), Assistant Professor of Accounting, joined the Accounting Department faculty in August 2015. He is originally from Broken Arrow, OK and received his BS in Accounting and Master of Accountancy from the University of Oklahoma. Dr. Barnes continued his education with a PhD in Business Administration-Accounting from Oklahoma State University. Prior to obtaining his PhD, he worked as a manager at KPMG, LLP in Dallas, TX. His research interests are primarily in Auditing; focusing on auditor industry expertise, audit quality metrics, audit fee modeling, audit partner and firm rotation, reporting lag, and the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB). Dr. Barnes is a former competitive card gamer; with multiple money finishes at premiere events over the past 12 years. He still plays recreationally here in Kirksville.
