University Conference to Focus on Liberal Education and Civic Engagement

Truman's fifth annual University Conference will take place from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Feb. 16. "Liberal Education and Civic Engagement" is the theme for the day.

Faculty and staff will attend discipline action plan meetings and staff meetings from 8-9:45 a.m. in each division's designated location. Registration for all others participating in the conference or for those who have not pre-registered will be from 9:30-10 a.m., in the Baldwin Hall Lobby.

University President Barbara Dixon will offer a welcome and introductory remarks at 10 a.m., in the Baldwin Auditorium.

Following this, Donald Harward will give the keynote address and Baldwin Lecture on liberal arts and democracy. This is the first time that the Baldwin Lecture has taken place during the University Conference.

Harward is a senior fellow with the AAC&U for Liberal Arts and Civic Engagement. He served as the president of Bates College in Lewiston, Maine, until 2002, and was recently named a president emeritus. Harward is a frequent consultant to professional discussions involving institutional planning, research and liberal education, service learning, education and civic engagement as well as the financing of higher education.

After the Baldwin Lecture, the first breakout sessions will begin at 11:30 a.m. Students, faculty and staff can choose to attend discussions related to a variety of educational topics. See <http://vpaa.truman.edu/communications/universityconference/2005/breakout.pdf> for a complete listing of the session topics, locations and facilitators.

A buffet lunch is scheduled at 12:15 p.m., in the Student Union Building Georgian Room following the first sessions. A reservation is required for the luncheon.

From 1-1:45 p.m., Harward will give a follow-up speech on "Liberal Arts Citizenship at Truman," in the Student Union Building.

All conference participants are invited to the Technology Fair in the afternoon on the day of the conference. See Page 2 for more information about items on display at the Tech Fair, which will take place from 1-4 p.m. in the Student Union Building Alumni Room.

The second and third breakout sessions will be from 2-2:45 p.m., and 3-3:45 p.m. respectively.

Finally, faculty, staff and students will have an opportunity to socialize and reflect on the day's activities at "Coming Together as a Community." This culminating discussion will be from 4-4:30 p.m., in the Student Union Building Down Under.

FACULTY & STAFF CAMPAIGN UPDATE

New this year!

Participation in the Faculty & Staff Campaign qualifies you for a chance to win a parking space of your own until Dec. 31, 2005. Log on to <http://isupport.truman.edu> for more information and links to popular funds, new funds and details about the Foundation accounts to which you can give. As of Feb. 14, the Faculty & Staff Campaign has reached 41 percent participation and $46,446 toward the 2005 goals of 60 percent and $90,000.

There will be no daytime classes Feb. 16 so Truman community members can attend the University Conference. Evening classes will meet.

Physics Lecture Series

The physics department is presenting a series of five public lectures in celebration of the World Year of Physics 2005 and the 100th anniversary of Albert Einstein's "Miracle Year."

Each hour-long talk is appropriate for a general audience and will be followed by refreshments.

Fair Showcases Technology Use

The Teaching/Learning Technology Roundtable will sponsor the Third Annual Technology Fair on the afternoon of the University Conference.

All members of the Truman community are invited to the Tech Fair, which will take place from 1-4 p.m., Feb. 16, in the Student Union Building Alumni Room. The purpose of the event is to provide insight on ways of integrating technology into the teaching and learning process.

Submissions to the TruTech Challenge will be on display at the fair along with some of the new services available from Pickler Memorial Library, such as the Research Assistance Program and new databases.

Visitors can see and learn about a range of topics including ways that members of the Truman community have used technology to serve the community, graphical enhancements students have made to a statistical software package, the LAS Portfolio Project's move to an electronic format, opportunities to use free software in courses and projects one can undertake in the TLTC, among others.

Additionally, the Registrar's Office will do a demo on the new Banner features.

The two grand prize Dell X50v PDAs will also be awarded to the winners of the TruTech Challenge.

Contact Chad Mohler at chmohler@truman.edu for more information on the fair.

Public Invited to Piano Concert-Competition

Forty pre-collegiate piano players will perform at the 22nd Annual Piano Festival Feb. 18-19.

The pianists will be auditioning for cash prizes and scholarships including the full-ride Truman Piano Fellowship Award. They have been invited to the final round of competition by piano faculty.

Sponsored by the Division of Fine Arts, their performances are open to the public free of charge. The concerts begin at 8:30 a.m., Feb. 19, in the Baldwin Auditorium and in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall.

Guest Artist Tatiana Ioudenitch from Park University (Parkville, Mo.) will also perform at the festival. Ioudenitch is a graduate of the Uspensky School of Music in Uzbekistan and the Saratov State Conservatory in Russia.

She will present a solo recital at 8 p.m., Feb. 18, in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall, that features the Shostakovich Op. 34 Preludes, Mozart Sonata K. 311 and the Bach-Busoni Chaconne. Additionally, Ioudenitch will conduct a master class with Truman piano majors Ryan Huber and Matt Safley at 3:30 p.m., Feb. 19, in the same location. All are welcome to attend her recital and workshop.

For more information about the Piano Festival, contact David McKamie at 785.4405 or e-mail dmckamie@truman.edu.

Health Awareness Fair Activities Planned

Several health-wise activities are coming to campus Feb. 16-24 in celebration of the Health Awareness Fair.

The Nursing Students Association, Phi Epsilon Kappa and Sigma Alpha Iota are sponsoring different events to encourage members of the campus community to be more aware of their overall health.

Speaker Bobbe White will give her talk, "Try Laughter-Just for the Health of It" at 6 p.m., Feb. 16, in the Baldwin Auditorium. White will discuss how laughter can be used to relieve stress. Her unique approach to health has been covered in various publications from the New York Times to TV Tokyo. The Health Awareness Fair will be from

1-6 p.m., Feb. 17, in the Student Recreation Center Multipurpose Gym. This year's theme is "Sound Mind, Strong Body."

There will be blood pressure, mental health, bone density and hearing screenings. Other booths include mini massage, acupuncture, chiropractic manipulations and more. All of the screenings and booths are free to the public.

Additionally, free HIV testing will be available to all from 1-6 p.m., Feb. 24, in the Student Union Building Activities Room.

For more information on any of the Health Awareness events, contact Carissa Allen at 665.6659.

Notables

The True Men a cappella group placed third at the International Championship of Collegiate A Cappella contest Feb. 5, in Champaign, Ill. The group also received the best choreography award. They will compete in the semi-finals Feb. 19 in Madison, Wis.

Mark Spitzer, assistant professor of English, had his poem "Winding Down Through Wolf Pass" accepted for publication in The Cimarron Review. Also, his poems "Meeting a Creature on My List" and "Dumb Mistake" were accepted for publication in The Kennesaw Review.

Theater Department Performs "Cabaret"

Truman State University's Division of Fine Arts presents the musical "Cabaret" by John Kander and Fred Ebb, directed by Lee Orchard. The show will be at 2 p.m., Feb. 27, 8 p.m., Feb. 28 and 8 p.m., March 2-4, in the Ophelia Parrish Courtyard Theatre.

"Cabaret" is a Tony award-winning musical set in Berlin, Germany, at the dawn of the Nazi takeover. A dark musical drama blending tragedy and comedy, "Cabaret" captures the heightened decadence that had taken root in Berlin prior to Hitler's uprising. The show's socially critical commentary speaks as much to America's contemporary culture as to the society that lived during the Nazi invasion.

Featuring vaudevillian jazz music and a theatre that has been transformed into a nightclub setting, Truman's production of "Cabaret" promises to be a lively and interactive theatrical event.

Tickets are $5 and may be reserved or purchased in advance at the Ophelia Parrish box office. Limited special seating is also available for $10. For details or further information on the show, call the Ophelia Parrish box office at 785.4515. Due to the graphic content, this production is not recommended for children.

Forensic Union Wins Washburn Meet

Truman's Forensic Union dominated the competition at the first Washburn Capital Classic invitational tournament Feb. 5-6, in Topeka, Kan.

The team took first in overall sweepstakes, placed six competitors in speech elimination rounds and composed half the field in parliamentary debate elimination rounds. Truman out-performed representatives from the University of Nebraska (Lincoln and Omaha campuses), Drury University (Springfield), CMSU (Warrensburg), Northwest Missouri State (Maryville) and Nebraska Wesleyan (Lincoln).

In individual events, freshman communication major Heather Timmerman from Hillsboro, Mo., won the tournament championship in program oral interpretation while freshman political science and economics double major Matthew Snyder from Neosho, Mo., placed second in both impromptu speaking and extemporaneous speaking. Ryan Walsh, senior philosophy and religion and communication double major from Cassville, Mo., also placed second in after dinner speaking, and Elizabeth Hobbs, junior biology major from Newton, Kan., earned fourth place for extemporaneous and informative speaking.

In parliamentary debate, freshman chemistry major Dylan Rothermel from Homewood, Ill., and junior biology major Meghana Kunkala from Hattiesburg, Miss., reached the final round.

Seven Truman students were ranked among the top 10 speakers at the tournament with Hobbs finishing first.

The Forensic Union next travels to the Missouri State Championships in Columbia, Mo.

Clinical Psychologist to Speak

The Association of Black Collegians and FAC are bringing licensed clinical psychologist and speaker Shikana Temille Porter to campus. Porter will give her inspiration talk, "From Routes to Roots," at 6 p.m., Feb. 21, in the SUB Alumni Room.

Contact Patience Rhodes at 627.5512 for more information.

Abstracts for Student Research Conference Due Feb. 18

Truman State University will convene a Universitywide Celebration of Student Research, Scholarship and Creative Achievement April 14. The annual Student Research Conference represents the 18th Annual Undergraduate Research Conference and the 3rd Graduate Research Conference, and these will be united in a cohesive program.

Students from all academic disciplines and divisions are invited and encouraged to present their scholarly or creative work.

Scheduled classes will not meet during the day on April 14, and it is hoped that faculty will formally integrate the event into course schedules and syllabi by incorporating relevant assignments.

The deadline for online abstract submissions is Feb. 18. Detailed information about presentation options, eligible projects, faculty mentor requirements and much more is available at the conference Web site <http://src.truman.edu>.
