Kohlenberg Lyceum Series Presents Russian Festival Ballet's "Sleeping Beauty"

The Kohlenberg Lyceum Series continues this semester with the Russian Festival Ballet's "Sleeping Beauty" at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 28 in Baldwin Hall Auditorium.

The ballet tells the tale of a baby princess, condemned at her christening by an evil fairy to prick her finger and die on her 16th birthday. She is saved by the gift of the good Lilac Fairy, who declares the princess will only sleep until awakened by the kiss of a prince. This fairy tale, replete with a king and queen, fairies, a beautiful princess and dream prince, magical stage effects and courtly splendor, lends itself perfectly to a magical evening of ballet.

Russian Festival Ballet's "Sleeping Beauty"

Free tickets will be available for students, faculty and staff starting Jan. 20.

Students may pick up their tickets at the Student Activities Board Office in the Student Union Building. Faculty and staff may acquire their tickets at the information desk in the Student Union Building.

General admission tickets for the event cost $7 and are available at the Truman Cashiers Window in McClain Hall or downtown at Edna Campbells starting Jan. 20. Tickets may also be purchased online at lyceum.truman.edu.

TruService Offers Volunteer Opportunities

The SERVE Center is ready to promote student volunteerism through their new service database, TruService.

This database was designed based on the needs and requests of both community partners and students themselves. Students, faculty and staff can browse the website based on their interests and sign up online to volunteer. The database allows organizations and businesses to state who they are, what they do, and the volunteer opportunities they provide. Volunteers can create a TruService profile in order to select activities, track service hours, connect with organizations, and create service résumés.

TruService is available at serve.truman.edu on the "TruService" link on the left.

Clems Create Scholarship Program to Benefit La Plata Students at Truman

Long-time La Plata residents Ella and Holland Clem have established a scholarship program designed to assist La Plata High School graduates who continue their education at Truman State University in Kirksville.

The Ella and Holland Clem Scholarship will be awarded to La Plata High School graduates who are full-time students at Truman, have financial need, and have compiled a record of achievement and service in extra-curricular or community groups and organizations.

The scholarship was created with a gift of $100,000 and has been invested with the Truman State University Foundation's endowment pool. The scholarship will be a permanent source of revenue for students as earnings will be available for scholarships annually.

When the fund has accrued sufficient earnings, a total of three $1,500 scholarships will be available for award each year. The scholarship is renewable provided the recipient remains in good academic and conduct standards. It is estimated the first awards from the fund will be made sometime in the year 2013.

Holland Clem is a 1940 graduate of Truman State University. He taught school in rural northeast Missouri for several years before establishing the C&R Market grocery store in 1957 in La Plata. Over the years, C&R Markets expanded to provide a hometown grocery in a dozen northeast Missouri communities.

The family has a deep tradition with the University as daughters Melba and Martha are both graduates, and son Danny attended for three years. Martha taught at the University early in her career before moving to the Milwaukee area, and Melba's late husband, Jack Bowen, was a graduate and served as a faculty member in the Health and Exercise Science Department for many years.
