The Hispanic American Leadership Organization (H.A.L.O.) will be hosting a dinner from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Feb. 10 in the Ryle Hall Main Lounge. The dinner will showcase Hispanic cooking. Cost is $5 per plate. Contact William Young at why394@truman.edu for more information.

Truman Board of Governors Officers Begin New Term

The Truman Board of Governors installed new officers during the Feb. 2 meeting that took place on campus.

Mark S. Wasinger of Hannibal, Mo., is the chair of the Truman Board of Governors. Cheryl J. Cozette of Columbia, Mo., is serving as vice president and Matt W. Potter of St. Louis, is serving as secretary.

Wasinger is a partner in the law firm of Wasinger, Parham, Morthland, Terrell and Wasinger, L.C. in Hannibal, Mo. He graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree and Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Missouri-Columbia in 1980. He received his juris doctorate from the University of Missouri-Columbia in 1983.

Cozette serves as an adjunct professor in educational leadership and policy analysis at the University of Missouri-Columbia and as a special consultant to the eMINTS National Center for programs related to school administrators. She graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree in history from Kansas City College and Bible School. She received a Master of Arts degree in elementary education from the University of Missouri-Kansas City and did further coursework in educational administration at Truman State University. Cozette received her Doctor of Education in educational administration (curriculum & instruction, general administration) from the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Potter is the Deputy Democratic Director for the City of St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners. He graduated magna cum laude from Truman State University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and a minor in Latin in 1996. He received his juris doctorate from the University of Missouri-Columbia School of Law in 1999.

The Board also welcomed John Hilton as a newly appointed out-of-state representative to the Board. Hilton succeeds Matthew Barnes who served on the Board for six years. Barnes was recognized by the Board with a resolution of appreciation for his sincere devotion and dedication to Truman.

The Board also received updates from various departments across campus, including the University Career Center, Advancement, Finance, and Facilities.

Among other actions, the Board:

- Approved the sale of revenue bonds in the amount of $23,500,000 for the renovation of Dobson Hall and the design and renovation of Ryle Hall. This represents phase three of a four-phased, more than $90 million plan to renovate the residence halls on campus;
- Authorized the resources to convert the former fire station into the Ruth Towne Museum and Visitors Center;
- Approved hiring a consultant to work with the TV studio in Barnett Hall and approved money for the TV studio relocation and equipment;
- Hired a firm to assist with plans for the possible expansion and improvement of parking on the west side of Franklin Street and Barnett Hall; and
- Approved a proposal to provide professional services for utility and site mapping.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Governors is set for April 5.

Lyceum Series Presents the Peking Acrobats

The Peking Acrobats, a troupe of China's most gifted tumblers, contortionists, jugglers, cyclists and gymnasts complemented by live musicians playing traditional Chinese instruments will bring their 2,000-year-old tradition of acrobatics to Truman at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 in Baldwin Auditorium as the next Kohlenberg Lyceum Series performance.

Because of the unusual and difficult nature of the feats involved, high honor is conferred upon those skilled enough to become acrobats; an acrobat can be considered the Chinese equivalent of an American opera star.

Seating is general admission. Admission is free for students, faculty and staff with their University ID. Tickets will be available beginning Feb. 8. Students will be able pick up tickets at the Student Activities Board Office, first floor of the Student Union Building. Faculty and staff will be able to pick up tickets at the Center for Student Involvement, first floor of the Student Union Building.

The University requests that all patrons be seated five minutes prior to the performance. The University reserves the right to fill all seats, reserved and general admission, five minutes before the time of performance stated on the ticket. No refunds will be given.

Contact the Public Relations Office at 785.4016 for more information or log on to <http://lyceum.truman.edu>.

Spring Career Expo and Mock Interviews Scheduled

The spring semester is in full swing and so are preparations for this year's Career Expo which will take place from 1-5 p.m. Feb. 27 in the Student Union Building. Now is the perfect time for students to update their résumé and have it critiqued, practice their interviewing skills, and meet with research companies that are coming to the Career Expo. Students can have their résumé critiqued on a drop-in basis by any of the career assistants at the Career Center.

Other important dates:
Feb. 25: Join the Career Center for Expo 411, a fun event to take place from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. in the Violette Hall Commons. Students will be able to register for Expo, have their résumé critiqued, find out about how to make the most of their Expo experience, and enjoy popcorn, soda and music.

Feb. 8, Feb. 15 and Feb. 22: Sign up to practice interviewing skills with the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE). Students may sign-up now in person in the Career Center. In order to interview, students must dress professionally and turn their résumé in 24 hours before the interview.

Feb. 26: Join Lauren Monks of Edward Jones for a presentation titled "Backpack to Briefcase" at 5 p.m. Co-sponsored by Delta Sigma Pi, the location for this session will be determined.

Feb. 26: Eli Lilly representative Ted Theobald will host "How to Work a Career Fair" at 6 p.m. in the Career Center classroom. This popular and well-regarded session provides practical insight into handling different styles of interview questions.

The Career Expo takes place Feb. 27 and the Interview Day for the Expo is Feb. 28.

Students are welcome to stop by the Career Center or call 785.4566 if they have any questions.

Freshmen Dominate Two Divisions of Webster Tournament, Varsity Reach Quarterfinals

Members of the Truman Forensic Union posted a strong showing in multiple divisions at Webster University's "Gorlok Gala" Jan. 25-27, including tournament championships in two divisions and a strong finish in a third.

Barbara Gillard, a freshman from Jackson, Mo., with a 4-2 preliminary round record, captured the tournament championship of the junior Lincoln-Douglas debate division after a 3-0 decision over her opponent from McKendree College. Her colleagues, Jennifer Wilborn, a freshman from Overland Park, Kan., and Mehdi Zaidi, a freshman from Chesterfield, Mo., captured the tournament championship in novice parliamentary debate with a 4-2 preliminary round record and a final round defeat of Ohio's Cedarville College on a 3-0 decision. Gillard was the fifth-ranked speaker in her division.

In varsity-level parliamentary debate, the team of Mark Buchheit, a sophomore from Carthage, Mo., and Dylan Rothermel, a senior from Homewood, Ill., reached the quarterfinals of the tournament before losing to the eventual finalists from Southern Illinois University (Carbondale, Ill.). Buchheit was ranked seventh speaker in the division. Rothermel was ranked ninth in the varsity division of Lincoln-Douglas debate. Additional teams from Truman composed of Sarah Backhaus, a freshman from Liberty, Mo., and Dylan Clark, a freshman from Maryland Heights, Mo., as well as Gillard and Chris Girouard, a junior from Chesterfield, Mo., amassed sufficient preliminary round records to reach elimination rounds, but were edged-out by teams with a statistical advantage in speaker points, the first tie-breaker.

"While our senior students continue to impress us with their consistency, we are equally excited about our successful freshman class," said Kevin Minch, director of forensics. "The majority of our team is now composed of freshmen, and we acquired an additional six recruits at semester. In only two weeks one of these new recruits has already made it to a tournament championship. Their potential is exciting."

The rest of the new recruits will make their inaugural appearance in the junior division of the Air Force Academy Tournament, the weekend of the Feb. 7-10.

The Forensic Union is an academic and competitive program of the Department of Communication. Students interested in the program should contact Minch at 785.5677 or kminch@truman.edu for more information. The program's Web site can be located at <http://forensics.truman.edu>.

Gooch to Present Spring 2008 Faculty Forum

The Spring 2008 Faculty Forum will present Warren Gooch, professor of music, in an evening titled "How Do You Get Your Ideas?: A Composer Talks About His Music." Gooch will present at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 18 in Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall.

Gooch said that composers of music are often asked by curious listeners to answer two seemingly innocuous questions. They are asked "Where do you get your ideas from?" and "When you compose, what comes to you first-the melody, chorus, words (etc., etc., etc.)?"

In reality, the answers to these questions are rarely simple, as the creative process is often a complex one involving intricate interaction between both sides of the brain, Gooch said.

In this spring 2008 session of the Truman Faculty Forum composer Gooch will briefly discuss the creative process as it applies to specific original musical works. The session will include performances of the musical works under discussion. Faculty, students, staff and community members are all invited to attend.

The Truman Faculty Forum was created in 2003 to give faculty the opportunity to present their research and creative work to the Truman community and to enhance the importance of scholarship and creativity in the culture of our institution. In the spirit of the liberal arts, the Forum provides one more way of exposing all members of the Truman community to various fields of investigation.

Student Ambassador Applications Available

The Student Ambassadors are a group of approximately 150 students whose goal is to promote Truman State University to prospective students and their families. Ambassadors are in charge of visiting with prospective students, giving tours of campus, and assisting with visit events.

Student Ambassadors are responsible, energetic, and above all, sincere in their desire to relate all aspects of University life to prospective students and their families.

Applications are available now and can be picked up in the Admissions Office (McClain Hall 205) or downloaded at <http://admissions.truman.edu/ambassadors.asp>. Completed applications must be turned in no later than 5 p.m. Feb. 15. Interviews will be conducted on Feb. 19-22 and Feb. 26-29.

If you have any questions, contact Jill Graves at jgraves@truman.edu.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Truman may nominate up to six students for the nationally competitive Morris K. Udall Scholarship. The Udall Scholarship Program was created to encourage outstanding students to pursue careers related to the environment (in all fields), and to encourage outstanding Native American and Alaska native students to pursue careers related to health care and tribal public policy. Requirements include sophomore or junior standing with at least a 3.0 GPA and ranking in the top quarter of a student's class. Each scholarship covers eligible expenses for tuition, fees, books, and room and board, up to a maximum of $5,000. The campus deadline for applications is Feb. 13. Students may contact Maria C. Di Stefano at mdistefa@truman.edu with questions. Complete information available at <http://www.udall.gov>.

TruTech Challenge Submission Deadline is Feb. 8

This Feb. 8 is the deadline for project submissions for the fourth annual TruTech Challenge, a juried competition of projects that use technology to achieve some learning outcome. Students, faculty, staff, and student organizations are invited to submit projects to the Challenge. Submitters will be asked to present their projects at Truman's Technology Fair during the University Conference, Feb. 20. Prizes will be awarded to the top projects. Prizes in previous years have included handheld computer PDAs and computer printers.

To be a part of the TruTech Challenge, you should include a 250-1,000 word description of the project. The description should include a statement of the project's purpose (what learning outcome it attempts to achieve), the ways in which the project uses technology, the ways in which the achievement of the project's purpose is facilitated by the use of technology, the progress that has been made in executing the project and what assistance, if any, was received from others in executing the project.

Also, submitters should include any supporting materials for the project that they would like the TruTech Challenge jury to consider. These materials might include (but are certainly not limited to) links to Web sites, printed or electronic documents, CD-ROMs, videotapes/DVDs, audio recordings, or artwork.

Project submissions should be made by Feb. 8 to Chad Mohler, either via e-mail to chmohler@truman.edu or campus mail to Chad Mohler, Department of Philosophy & Religion, McClain Hall 214. By submitting a project, you agree to allow your submission to be posted on TLTR's Web site, <http://tltr.truman.edu> and to present your project at the Technology Fair on Feb. 20.

The TLTR committee will judge each of the submitted projects on the degree to which its use of technology enhances the project's attempt at achieving its learning outcome. Prize winners will be announced at the Technology Fair on Feb. 20.

McKim Named Grants and Compliance Specialist

Kris McKim returned to Truman on Jan. 14 as a grants and compliance specialist in the Center for Teaching and Learning.

McKim had previously worked at Truman in the Business Office and then in Advancement before moving to a position at A.T. Still University. Most recently, she served as the assistant city manager for the city of Kirksville.

In her position of grants and compliance specialist, McKim will be overseeing Truman's Institutional Review Board (IRB), which reviews research projects with human subjects. She will also be assisting with those who have received grants by making sure they know the post award requirements and are able to complete them. As time allows, McKim may also be working with Truman faculty on their proposals.

McKim is looking forward to working with the Truman faculty and staff to make the grant process as smooth as possible.

WBCA's Think Pink

1 p.m. • Feb. 16

Compost Film Festival

Calling all filmmakers.

The Compost Project is sponsoring a film festival this spring. The subject of all films will be related to composting. Information regarding various topics can be accessed on the U-drive under the folder "Compost Film Festival" in Michael Kelrick's folder (biology department) in order to aid filmmakers in making entertaining short films which are also educational.

Film submissions are due in DVD format to Kelrick's office door (Magruder Hall 3024) by 5 p.m. Feb. 10. Resources to aid in film production are listed in a document on the Compost Film Festival U-drive folder. The films will be judged by parties who are not affiliated with the Compost Project. The festival, including the awarding of prizes, will occur soon after spring break.

Any inquiries, interest or additional information can be addressed to Ginger Daugherty at ged106@truman.edu or tsu.compost@gmail.com.
