INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES MAJOR

Mission

Degree programs in interdisciplinary studies are defined by, and were developed through, the following objectives:

Knowledge - Students who successfully complete an IDSM degree will:

1. Understand advanced concepts, terminology, methodology, subject matter, problems, and issues from multiple academic disciplines;
2. Be aware of the strengths and limitations offered by individual academic disciplines; and
3. Develop and increase the precision and depth of one's understanding of issues and academic disciplines by employing multiple perspectives, experiences, and approaches.

Skills - Students who successfully complete an IDSM degree will:

1. Develop the writing, speaking, analyzing, and computing abilities expected of all Truman students;
2. Recognize connections between traditional academic disciplines and integrate knowledge from multiple disciplines to develop a better understanding of a single issue;
3. Communicate knowledge using the conventions of multiple academic disciplines; and
4. Develop a versatility of thought that allows one to apply knowledge learned to issues and problems associated with varied subject areas.

Attitudes - Students who successfully complete an IDSM degree will:

1. Recognize the importance of individual disciplines as a means to address problems and to generate knowledge;
2. Understand the interconnectedness of knowledge and academic disciplines;
3. Appreciate the value of a liberal education; and
4. Value "life-long learning."

PROGRAM ADMISSION

Students who enroll at Truman will not be guaranteed the opportunity to major in Interdisciplinary Studies. The program is intended for students with strong academic records, high motivation, a clear sense of direction, and the desire to design a challenging academic program. Accordingly, students who wish to pursue this degree must apply for admission into the program. A faculty oversight committee and the Director of Interdisciplinary Studies will use the following guidelines to identify successful applicants:

1. Students must complete one year of classes at Truman as full-time students before they can apply to the program; transfer students with 60 or more hours may apply to the program after one semester at Truman as full-time students.
2. Students must have a Truman GPA of at least 2.80.
3. Students must propose an individualized curriculum plan that is commensurate with the philosophy, focus, intentions, size, and rigor of other Truman major curricula.
4. Students must submit a written statement identifying their academic goals and the course of study they wish to pursue in Interdisciplinary Studies. In some cases, the

MINORS OFFERED

Students are encouraged to pursue study in an academic minor to provide contrasting and parallel study to the major. Serving to complement the major and help students further expand and integrate knowledge, academic minors are offered in a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary subjects. Students who choose to pursue minors should seek advice from faculty members in their minor disciplines as well as from their advisors in their major program.

Minimum requirements for all Academic Minor Programs:

1. A minimum GPA of 2.0 for all coursework within the Academic Minor Program.
2. A minimum of nine credit hours of the coursework for Academic Minor Programs must be taken through Truman State University, unless the discipline specifies a greater number of hours at Truman.

Nine interdisciplinary minors are available at Truman: African/African-American Studies, Asian Studies, Classical Studies, Environmental Studies, International Studies, Italian Studies, Medieval Studies, Public Administration, and Women’s and Gender Studies. For course descriptions, see the respective divisions’ sections of the Catalog (ENVS, IDSM, and WGST course descriptions appear at the end of this section.) Requirements for interdisciplinary minors are listed below.

AFRICAN/AFRICAN-AMERICAN STUDIES

Home Division: Social Science
The African/African-American Studies Minor requires the successful completion of 15 semester hours of the following courses.

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

Home Division: Social Science

The International Studies Minor requires the successful completion of the following:

1. Students who choose to pursue the International Studies minor must seek advice and approval from faculty members on the International Studies Minor Committee and from their advisors in the major program. This includes, but is not limited to, an International Studies Minor Plan of Study Worksheet signed by a member of the International Studies Minor Committee.
2. A student completing the International Studies minor must take 15 hours of course work in International Studies. The minor consists of two tiers with the student taking six hours in Tier I and nine hours in Tier II.
3. The six hours from Tier I must be from the set of courses listed below, with the stipulation that no student may take his/her two courses from within the same discipline, or within the major area of study. The purpose of these primary courses is to give the student a general introduction to the international environment and the issues involved in addressing questions from an international perspective. The double-counting of core courses is appropriate.

5. All students receiving the International Studies minor will have completed work in a foreign language up through the intermediate level as determined by either the completion of suitable coursework or the testing of language proficiency.

6. Unsupervised tours rarely qualify for credit toward the International Studies Minor. In rare exceptions, a maximum of three credit hours for unsupervised tours is allowable with a predetermined and preapproved academic requirement authorized by an International Studies Minor Committee faculty advisor. Occasionally, up to nine credit hours are possible for supervised tours or overseas work with rigorous academic expectations. Such a tour must have the approval of an International Studies Minor Committee faculty advisor and the Center for International Education Abroad. Generally, overseas tours or courses taken at other domestic institutions of higher learning may earn no more than six credit hours. Substitutions occur at the discretion of International Studies Minor Committee faculty advisor and other signatories required per the standard Substitution Card.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Students who do not meet prerequisites for a course can request permission to take a course by meeting with the faculty member teaching the course, who in turn will recommend to the Director of Interdisciplinary Studies that the student be enrolled in the class if appropriate.

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

ENVS 200 – Introduction to Environmental Studies
3 hours

We will study a variety of perspectives on humans and nature, examining questions such as "Do non-human species, or features of the landscape, have intrinsic value?" and "Can (scientific) knowledge affect human behavior?" We will attempt to develop an understanding of the resources offered by humanities scholars and social and natural scientists for addressing such questions. Data-driven assessments available from scientists will be examined to characterize the state of our planetary inheritance. Particular topics addressed include, for example, food production, loss of biological diversity, and energy generation/use. Public policy (including economic, cultural and sociological considerations) regarding these and other environmental issues like proliferation of industrial pollutants and conservation of endangered species will also be addressed. We intend to facilitate informed, critical, interdisciplinary reflection on central issues pertaining to the environment, in part by increasing empirical knowledge of these issues.

ENVS 480 – Seminar in Environmental Studies 1 hour

Students in the course will present the results of capstone projects completed as an extension of a previous course or during activities approved by the environmental studies minor committee, discuss readings on environmental issues, and interact with guest speakers on environmental studies-related topics. Prerequisite: ENVS 200.

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES

IDSM 175 – Introduction to Interdisciplinary Studies 3 hours

In IDSM 175, students will explore the theoretical and practical meanings of disciplinarity and interdisciplinarity through readings, discussions, and an individual project focused on the student's own planned course of study. Prerequisites: Admission to Interdisciplinary Studies major.

IDSM 300 – Folklore Colloquium 0.5 hours

Folklore Colloquium is a half-credit course in which faculty and students come together to discuss issues and strategies essential to the collection and/or interpretation of folklore. The course meets once a month for two hours. Each meeting will involve a reading, listening, viewing, writing or collecting assignment, and each will be led by a selected faculty member. Grades will be Pass/Fail. Folklore minors must take the course twice, for a total of one credit. Prerequisite: sophomore status or above.

IDSM 475 – Capstone Seminar 3 hours

(course approval in process at time of publication)

WOMEN'S AND GENDER STUDIES

WGST 200 – Issues in Women's and Gender Studies 3 hours

An introduction to feminist and gender theory pioneers, and an overview of how traditional academic disciplines might be critiqued from feminist and gender theory perspectives.

WGST 220 – Survey of Women's and Gender Studies 3 hours

A goal of this course is for students to know philosophical thinking on issues of special concern to women such as feminist ethics, sexism, female nature and sex roles, sex, love, marriage, sexual harassment, pornography, rape, abortion and preferential treatment (reverse discrimination). Students learn to argue orally and in writing about these issues.

WGST 300 – Readings in Women's and Gender Studies 1-3 hours

Interdisciplinary independent study on a focused WGST topic supervised by a WGST faculty member.

WGST 400 – Capstone in Women's and Gender Studies 1-3 hours

Interdisciplinary project supervised by women's and gender studies committee. May be done individually as approved by WGST committee or in conjunction with any other course if approved by course instructor and WGST committee. Prerequisite: At least nine hours completed in WGST minor.
