

Planning Out-of-Class Experiences Self-Assessment

Part One: Goal Identification

Directions: In the space below please generally describe what you would like to be doing professionally in six to ten years. You need not describe a specific career path if you are still undecided about your major. You can describe the characteristics of a work situation in which you would feel comfortable. There is also space provided below to describe what you would like to achieve personally from your out-of-class experiences.

Personal Desires Regarding Out-of-Class Experiences:

Part Two: Transferable Skills

Directions: Below please find several transferable skills and personal characteristics of interest to employers and graduate schools. You have the opportunity to develop these skills during your Truman experience inside and outside of the classroom. In order to facilitate goal setting using the Cocurricular Planning Map, we have listed the transferable skills in association with the planning quadrants. Obviously, there is a great deal of overlap in the quadrants and the skills listed in one of the quadrants may also be developed as you work on goals associated with another quadrant. Two boxes appear to the left of each skill. Read over the skills. If you have an interest in developing a particular skill, rate your current mastery of the skill by inserting the appropriate number from the scale listed below in the first box. Indicate the level of mastery you would like to achieve by the time you graduate by inserting the appropriate number in the second box. Remember, rate only those items you desire to develop. For the ratings, please use the following scale.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
no knowledge or ability in the skill area					complete mastery of the skill area
