TRUMAN STATE UNIVERSITY

THE PRESIDENT'S LEADERSHIP AWARD

One of the most prestigious awards bestowed by Truman State University, the President's Leadership Award honors select Truman alumni and friends for meritorious service through their gifts of volunteerism, expertise, and financial resources. The University is proud to present this distinguished award to one of the University's greatest benefactors, Dr. Betty Jo White.

BETTY JO WHITE, DO ('59)

Growing up in the Ozarks of mid-Missouri, Betty Jo White knew even as a young student that she wanted to become a doctor. When her family physician learned of her passion for medicine, he made a phone call to Truman State University and helped set her career into motion.

Dr. White fondly recalls her time at Truman and especially her advisor, Dr. John D. Black. He was a professor of zoology, credited as being the first pre-osteopathic advisor in the country. To this day, the “Dr. John D. Black Day Lily” grows in her yard, and she and fellow classmates from Truman exchange photos of its blooms each year.

Living in Kirksville, the birthplace of osteopathic medicine, was a wonderful experience for Dr. White. She was active in the Pre-Osteopathy club, Science club and the Baptist Student Union. She fondly remembers attending several BSU conferences as a student and the impact of the experiences. She was also active in residence hall governance and the women's recreation association.

After just three and a half years, she graduated from Truman and proceeded to the Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery (now the Kansas City University of Medicine and Biosciences or KCU).

At that time, an osteopathic female surgeon was a new concept, and Dr. White was the first female to do a residency in general surgery. This was a difficult task, as many programs simply would not interview her because of her gender. She became a resident at Bashline Memorial Hospital in Pennsylvania after 29 other applications were turned down. Following her residency, she stayed at Bashline Memorial Hospital and practiced general surgery for the remainder of her career. For many years, she was active in the hospital's leadership, including stints as chief of staff and chair of the Department of Surgery.

Throughout her career, Dr. White has been keenly aware of the impact of those who helped along her journey and has felt compelled to support others. Dr. White began donating to the Dr. John D. Black Scholarship at Truman. For more than 45 years, she has made an annual gift to this scholarship fund in his honor.

In 2006, Dr. White established the Betty Jo White, DO Scholarship. Each year, recipients of her scholarship are required to visit the Museum of Osteopathic Medicine in Kirksville and send Dr. White a one-page paper about their experience. This requirement demonstrates her passion for educating the next generation, as well as her love and appreciation of the field of osteopathic medicine.

In 2013, remembering the impact of her experiences with the BSU, Dr. White established the Betty Jo White, DO, Baptist Student Union Endowed Stipend. The stipend supports students attending a conference or retreat held by a philanthropic organization such as the BSU.

In addition to her lifetime of gifts to Truman, Dr. White has also included Truman State University in her estate plans. Her generosity will continue to enrich the lives of students in perpetuity.

THE *D*ISTINGUISHED CORPORATION/FOUNDATION AWARD

*E*stablished in 2006, the Distinguished Corporation/Foundation Award recognizes corporations, foundations and organizations for exemplary support to Truman State University and its students. Examples of collaborative efforts include financial support, recruitment of interns and graduates, participation in lectures and seminars, intellectual exchanges and research alliances. The University is proud to present this year's Distinguished Corporation/Foundation Award to the Sunderland Foundation.

The Sunderland Foundation was established in 1945 by Lester T. Sunderland, who served as president of the Ash Grove Cement Company for 33 years. He was a respected leader in his industry and was a principal and founder of the Sunderland Brothers Company, a leading distributor of coal, lime, cement and other building materials headquartered in Omaha, Nebraska.

Assets of the Sunderland Foundation have been contributed by Lester T. Sunderland and his two sons. These assets were comprised primarily of shareholdings of the Ash Grove Cement Company. Ash Grove was led by four generations of the Sunderland family from 1909 to 2018. The dedicated and talented employees of Ash Grove built the company over several generations into the fifth largest manufacturer of Portland cement in the United States at the time they were acquired by CRH plc of Dublin, Ireland in 2018.

After more than seven decades, the Foundation continues to be led by Lester T.'s descendants. It has focused on supporting brick and mortar projects, awarding grants to nonprofits in the Kansas City region and other areas where the Ash Grove Cement Company traditionally does business. Grants for planning, design, construction, renovation, repairs and restoration of facilities are considered. Areas of interest include youth serving agencies, health facilities, community buildings, museums, civic projects, energy efficient affordable housing projects and higher education. Grants are generally awarded to larger, well-established nonprofit organizations.

The Sunderland Foundation's mission is to improve quality of life through reinvesting in communities. They have pledged a total donation of $1.1 million over two years to support the Greenwood Center renovation project. The Greenwood Center is an ideal venture for the Sunderland Foundation as they seek to foster "a stronger, safer, and more vibrant future for the community we serve." The Distinguished Corporation/Foundation award honors The Sunderland Foundation as these dollars take Truman one-step closer to repurposing a historic community building into northeast Missouri's first inter-professional autism center.
