 DISTINCT BY DESIGN

Degree offered

MAE

Master of Arts in Education

Students will get hands-on learning experiences at multiple levels.

Truman's MAE has accreditation from the Missouri Department of Elementary & Secondary Education (DESE) and the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP).

Students will complete an undergraduate degree in a discipline and then complete the MAE to learn how to teach their specialization area. The MAE takes at least one year to complete.

Truman offers qualifying undergraduates direct admission to our Master of Elementary Education and Master of Special Education programs.

During her time as a student in the MAE program, Michaela Hylen said,

“When I came to Truman I didn't think I wanted to teach, but after taking a couple of Education classes I was hooked and now I can't imagine not being a teacher. Having all these role models as professors, people who really truly care about education and students, is something that makes Truman's education program stand out to me. The professors are not only passionate about research-based practices and education theory, but also about the people impacted. They inspire and encourage us to go beyond simply teaching in a classroom to impacting our students, schools, and communities, so that someday we can do the same for our students.”
