“ I decided to pursue Sociology because I wanted to take courses in education, political science, research and so many other things that naturally fit into the major. Sociology coursework has introduced me to concepts such as privilege and social inequality, in a way that allows me to contextualize my life experiences while also equipping me with the necessary theoretical knowledge to evaluate institutions and structures. I have been able to use these lessons to have an impactful Truman experience and connect with so many people. ”

– RAY STEWART, Class of 2020
